Thomas M. Burgess has over 25 years experience in the multi-family and commercial real estate industry. He began his career in the 1980's with Data Realty. Data Realty was a pioneer in the multi-housing market in designing and executing specialized sales and marketing programs. This program involved hiring and training the staff, designing marketing strategy, negotiating sales and producing marketing events and promotions.

Tom also has wide experience in virtually every facet of the commercial real estate industry. His successes include sales and leasing of office, retail, multi-family, industrial, lands and special use mixed-use projects. This wide and varied background truly provides full-service brokerage tailored to his clients and customers needs as well as valuable insight into the workings of the real estate market.

In 2007, Tom was involved in over $25,000,000 in the leasing and sales of traditional commercial and multi-family real estate the Twin Cities area. His clients include large local developers, financial institutions, independent property owners and national tenants--and those small, high potential companies of spirited entrepreneurs just starting on the path to success.
